

Celebrate Dopamine Day on Feb 14 by engaging in activities that increase your dopamine, like adventure, fantasy, friends, and chocolate.

Dopamine is a neurotransmitter molecule that binds to receptors in the brain to induce feelings of love, passion, pleasure, and desire. When we are in love, our brains are swimming in dopamine. As part of the reward pathway, it is also involved in obsession and addiction.

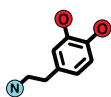

©2010 Raven Hanna
www.madewithmolecules.com

Celebrate Dopamine Day on Feb 14 by engaging in activities that increase your dopamine, like adventure, fantasy, friends, and chocolate.

Dopamine is a neurotransmitter molecule that binds to receptors in the brain to induce feelings of love, passion, pleasure, and desire. When we are in love, our brains are swimming in dopamine. As part of the reward pathway, it is also involved in obsession and addiction.

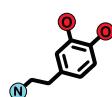

©2010 Raven Hanna
www.madewithmolecules.com

Celebrate Dopamine Day on Feb 14 by engaging in activities that increase your dopamine, like adventure, fantasy, friends, and chocolate.

Dopamine is a neurotransmitter molecule that binds to receptors in the brain to induce feelings of love, passion, pleasure, and desire. When we are in love, our brains are swimming in dopamine. As part of the reward pathway, it is also involved in obsession and addiction.

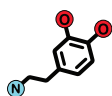

©2010 Raven Hanna
www.madewithmolecules.com

Celebrate Dopamine Day on Feb 14 by engaging in activities that increase your dopamine, like adventure, fantasy, friends, and chocolate.

Dopamine is a neurotransmitter molecule that binds to receptors in the brain to induce feelings of love, passion, pleasure, and desire. When we are in love, our brains are swimming in dopamine. As part of the reward pathway, it is also involved in obsession and addiction.

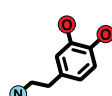

©2010 Raven Hanna
www.madewithmolecules.com

Celebrate Dopamine Day on Feb 14 by engaging in activities that increase your dopamine, like adventure, fantasy, friends, and chocolate.

Dopamine is a neurotransmitter molecule that binds to receptors in the brain to induce feelings of love, passion, pleasure, and desire. When we are in love, our brains are swimming in dopamine. As part of the reward pathway, it is also involved in obsession and addiction.

©2010 Raven Hanna
www.madewithmolecules.com

Celebrate Dopamine Day on Feb 14 by engaging in activities that increase your dopamine, like adventure, fantasy, friends, and chocolate.

Dopamine is a neurotransmitter molecule that binds to receptors in the brain to induce feelings of love, passion, pleasure, and desire. When we are in love, our brains are swimming in dopamine. As part of the reward pathway, it is also involved in obsession and addiction.

©2010 Raven Hanna
www.madewithmolecules.com